Please share with your children before you go to Mass this Sunday – It's a link to the Sunday Mass readings.

Read together in order to help organize your thoughts/prayers before you attend Mass!!!!

The link to the full text of the Pope's new document (The Joy of Love) is found here in English "On Love in the Family"

First Communion Parents: This Sunday April 24th we will host a First Communion preparation meeting for parents and students during the regularly scheduled Sunday class time. It will be a slightly different format than usual. You will spend some time with your children and then their teacher Janet Vasquez will take them in order to practice their songs for the First Communion Mass. Then we will watch a video, followed by some discussion with other parishioners and yours truly. We will start in the cafeteria at 10:30 AM. Feel free to bring a snack or refreshment to share!

...your kids can do random acts of mercy any time; and would like to be encouraged by your example – so share some experiences with them!

Challenge them to do things for others because of the dignity of each person – and not for a new toy they really don't need!

Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible continues this Sunday at 10:45 in the cafeteria: All parents are welcome!

Hospitality Sunday Get-Together will be May 1st for Kindergarten and first grade parents (moved from April 24th)

Dear Parents:

Your family is a living reflection of God – the creator of the universe. The more you live out authentic love in your home the closer you are to knowing who God is! Below you will find paragraph # 11 from the Pope's recent letter "The Joy of Love" written to all Catholics and people of God will.

Paragraph 11 from "The Joy of Love"

"The couple that loves and begets life is a true, living icon – not an idol like those of stone or gold prohibited by the Decalogue – capable of revealing God the Creator and Saviour. For this reason, fruitful love becomes a symbol of God's inner life (cf. Gen 1:28; 9:7; 17:2-5, 16; 28:3; 35:11; 48:3-4). This is why the Genesis account, following the "priestly tradition", is interwoven with various genealogical accounts (cf. 4:17-22, 25-26; 5; 10; 11:10-32; 25:1-4, 12-17, 19-26; 36). The ability of human couples to beget life is the path along which the history of salvation progresses. Seen this way, the couple's fruitful relationship becomes an image for understanding and describing the mystery of God himself, for in the Christian vision of the Trinity, God is contemplated as Father, Son and Spirit of love. The triune God is a communion of love, and the family is its living reflection. Saint John Paul II shed light on this when he said, "Our God in his deepest mystery is not solitude, but a family, for he has within himself fatherhood, sonship and the essence of the family, which is love. That love, in the divine family, is the Holy Spirit".6

The family is thus not unrelated to God's very being.⁷ This Trinitarian dimension finds expression in the theology of Saint Paul, who relates the couple to the "mystery" of the union of Christ and the Church (cf. Eph 5:21-33).

Discipleship

Last Fall I introduced the concept of the Year of Mercy convoked by Pope Francis. He called for this special moment of grace because he believes that we, the Church and society need to be more open to mercy and that we need to share this aspect of faith with others.

In order to bring to your child more of an awareness of the importance of the daily practice of mercy we will give each child a wrist band this Sunday that will say on it "Random Acts of Mercy" – in other words this will serve as a reminder that they should be merciful towards others at various times of the day, week and month and throughout this special Jubilee Year.

Above is a list of the traditional Corporal and Spiritual Works of Mercy. Obviously some are more accessible than others for your children. Try and encourage what seems reasonable. They don't have to do all of them. We are just trying to raise the consciousness in our Parish family in this area of faith development!

God bless,

David Steindl-Rast: Want to be happy? Be grateful

Published on Nov 27, 2013

The one thing all humans have in common is that each of us wants to be happy, says Brother David Steindl-Rast, a monk and interfaith scholar. And happiness, he suggests, is born from gratitude.

An inspiring lesson in slowing down, looking where you're going, and above all, being grateful.

Reminder about a basic “God Plan” for the New Year:

So what’s your plan for the New Year? It’s that time of year when we make new diet plans, exercise plans, spring vacation plans and maybe a new house budget. How about a God plan? I know you are intentional about all of the areas above, otherwise nothing new would ever happen in your family. I would like to invite you to consider putting some New Year’s energy into a God plan. God waits patiently for us to take steps towards Him in response to the many graces he presents to us in our daily lives. Grace is all around us; assuring us that one of the characteristics of God is his omnipresence(He is everywhere). In other words we are never not in the presence of God. The challenge to each of us is to recognize these ongoing daily encounters and their meaning for our lives and families!

Here are a few simple steps I personally use each day. They may help you and your children become more aware of God’s presence in your daily life:

1. Morning: when you get up encourage yourself and your children to say hello to God and to be grateful for something or someone! Encourage yourself and children to say something complimentary to others before they go to school – build up a habit of thinking positively of others!
2. Gospel for the day: Usccb.org it takes a minute to read the daily Gospel. Here’s an online link. <http://www.usccb.org/bible/readings/011716.cfm>
3. At night thank God again for your day, food, good results at work, a moment of fellowship etc. Review your various encounters with others and any insights you had during the day. Take a look at the next day’s Gospel passage (will just take a minute). This could be done on your own and/or with your children.
4. Next day – Repeat.
5. Bonus points: consider reading a Catholic book (a little at a time) or joining or beginning a discussion group focused on some aspect of the faith or spirituality. I am happy to offer suggestions for resources. I am just an email away: amacdonnell@arcol.org

The fruit of regular daily reflection is: “love, joy, peace, forbearance, kindness, goodness, and faithfulness” Galatians 5:22
